

SENATE KILLS A CLOTURE MOVE IN 51 TO 37 VOTE

Action Gives Encouragement To Filibustering Southern Bloc

ANTI-LYNCH BILL STILL DEBATED

Opponents Expected To Exert Efforts To Sidetrack It Soon

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The senate killed today a proposal for drastic limitation of debate on the anti-lynching bill against which southern senators have been filibustering since the session started.

The vote was 51 against cloture to 37 for. Senators Clark and Truman both voted for cloture.

The vote against debate limitation, or cloture, gave new encouragement to the southern bloc that the anti-lynching measure would be shelved.

Imposition of cloture, which would have limited further speechmaking against the bill to one hour for each senator, was requested in a petition signed by 17 senators.

Although supporters of the anti-lynching proposal said they would seek to keep it before the senate, opponents were expected to make an effort to sidetrack it soon.

Strength To Opponents

The opponents cause was given strength immediately by a statement of Democratic Leader Barkley. He told the senate he would call on the senate "in the very near future" to decide whether it wanted to continue debate on the bill or take up other matters.

"I have done everything I could to bring this bill to a vote, just as I would have done with any other legislation," Barkley declared. "It has been debated since last August and here it is nearly February."

"I want to serve notice that in the very near future I am going to call on the proponents of this bill to decide whether they want to continue to debate a measure on which we can not get a final vote, or whether we should take up some other legislation."

The proposed debate limitation, or cloture, was set for a vote after proponents and opponents of the anti-lynching measure made brief speeches. Under a senate agreement, a half hour was allotted to each side.

Sharp Wrangle Developed

A sharp wrangle broke out as the senate met, over which side would speak first, with Senator Wagner (D-NY), an author of the bill, and Senator Connally (D-Tex), leader of the opposition, both demanding the last say.

Finally, after eight minutes had been consumed, Wagner took the floor. He read into the record a list of senators who he said voted for cloture in 1933. They included Glass (D-Va.), Bailey (D-NC), Byrnes (D-SC), Smith (D-SC), Harrison (D-Miss), McKellar (D-Tenn.), and Bankhead (D-Ala.).

All these senators have opposed the anti-lynching bill, against which a filibuster has been conducted since the session started.

Wagner said he merely wanted to give the senate the list of names, presumably in an effort to demonstrate inconsistency on the part of any of the group who vote against cloture today.

Harrison said that "in fairness" Wagner should point out that the cloture motion in 1933 was to curtail debate on "an important banking bill."

Sidetracking Anticipated

Confident southerners expressed the belief defeat of the motion would result in sidetracking the anti-lynching legislation within a few days.

Democratic Leader Barkley agreed to consult proponents of the anti-lynching bill before adopting such a course. Two of the measure's principal supporters—Senators Wagner (D-NY) and Clark (D-Mo)—declared it should be kept before the senate regardless of the vote.

RESIGNATION OF SENATOR FRED STEIWER IS IN

Announces His Retirement From Public Life January 31

By The Associated Press
SALEM, Ore., Jan. 27.—Senator Frederick Steiwer (R-Ore.) resigned today effective Jan. 31.

The senator had previously announced his withdrawal from public life upon the completion of his second term as senator on Dec. 31, 1938.

In a letter to Governor Charles Martin, dated January 24, Steiwer said:

"I hereby resign from the office of United States senator, this resignation to be effective January 31, 1938.

"I will be indebted if you will advise my successor that if I can be of assistance in the organization and performance of his work in behalf of the state of Oregon that I will be completely at his service."

Democratic Governor Charles H. Martin had no immediate comment on a successor.

It previously had been reported that Steiwer had assured Republican leaders he would not resign, these leaders feeling that a Democratic successor for the unexpired term would have an inside track for the nomination in May and the general election next November.

Steiwer, unwavering administration opponent, announced last fall he would not seek reelection.

Steiwer was the keynoter at the last national republican convention.

RED LEGIONS OF CHINA IN MARCH ON JAPANESE

Reports Given of Small Detachments of Nipponese Wiped Out

SPUR IRREGULARS TO NEW ATTACKS

Japanese Retaliate In North China By Burning Villages

By The Associated Press
PEIPING, China, Jan. 27.—China's Red Legions and peasant irregulars are on the march against Japanese in the vast north China area.

Concentrating swiftly, attacking swiftly and dispersing swiftly, they have struck time and again at Japanese communication lines and Japanese garrisons.

Authentic details of this warfare in the frozen northern provinces where the Chinese-Japanese conflict began, were brought to Japanese-conquered Peiping today by foreigners who arrived from the war areas.

They reported that during January Chinese irregulars along the Peiping-Hankow and Chengtai railroads wiped out small detachments of Japanese troops in at least 20 instances.

Salies of the irregulars interrupted traffic on the Japanese controlled portion of the Peiping-Hankow line, one of China's main north-south rail arteries, on an average of three times a week.

Japanese garrisons at Tinghsien, 100 miles southwest of here, were annihilated on three different occasions.

Losses To Japanese
A Japanese regiment at Chuyang, mountain town west of Tinghsien, suffered losses of 10 per cent under a fierce guerrilla onslaught.

The Chinese red army spurred irregulars to new attacks by holding a military congress of all guerrilla forces at Fuping in western Hopeh province near China's great wall.

Hopeh, where Japanese dominate the great cities of Peiping and Tientsin, the railroads, and the main highways, was well represented at the meeting.

One of the decisions of the congress was to stamp out banditry and looting.

Chinese peasants taking refuge in Peiping from along Peiping-Hankow railway say life is becoming impossible in many districts. Attacks and counter attacks sweep through helpless villages with both sides killing extensively on suspicion of espionage.

Communists are actively engaged in organizing the Hopeh province peasantry. Ten miles back of the railroad they have plastered the countryside with posters saying:

"Down with Japan!"

Many Japanese troops along the railways were being replaced by Manchoukuo garrisons. There was a minimum of 20 men in each detachment. During the past two weeks they have built strong barbed wire barricades.

It was believed here that transfer of Japanese troops to southern Shantung province for an attack on China's Lungshai railway lifeline had precipitated the outbreak of irregular attacks.

Burn Three Villages
Foreigners who reached Peiping said Japanese retaliated for the attacks on Chuyang by burning three villages near Tinghsien and killing 100 persons. When the Japanese returned from this punitive foray, irregulars isolated and killed two truckloads of Japanese troops.

The Japanese spokesman said today that frequent loud explosions southwest of Peiping came from Japanese bombing practice. He said conditions around Peiping were so peaceful that Japanese troops were resuming their peacetime practice maneuvers, and declared there were no arm-

BROTHERS ENGAGED IN A FISTIC ENCOUNTER

Three brothers, who disagreed over some business affairs, became entangled in a fistic encounter in the business district late Wednesday afternoon, and police were called.

The officers interrupted the affair and escorted the three to the office of Prosecuting Attorney Leo J. Harned, where one of the parties wanted to have the other two brothers arrested. Upon their arrival at the office, one of the trio with a badly disfigured face, they sat down and talked things over, and closed the matter by all shaking hands and going off together.

The President will be 56 Sunday, but he and Mrs. Roosevelt decided to have the birthday dinner the evening before. After the dinner, Mr. Roosevelt will make a brief radio talk in connection with the birthday balls being given all over the nation to raise funds to combat infantile paralysis.

REPORT GIVEN TO FARMERS FROM COUNTY AGENT

Progress In County In Farming Reviewed at Conference

Two hundred delegates and visitors representing every township in Pettis county met at Sedalia yesterday in an all-day conference to discuss their pasture, feed and soil problems.

This was the 14th annual Clover and Prosperity conference held in Pettis county. The morning part of the program was held in the assembly room of the court house, followed in the afternoon by a luncheon and program at the First M. E. church.

George R. Wilkerson, chairman of the conference, called the meeting to order shortly after 10 o'clock. The minutes of the last conference held at Sedalia on February 5, 1937, were read by George Fichter, secretary. One hundred and fifteen delegates and forty-eight visitors were registered during the day by J. H. Green, acting registrar.

In addition to those registered, other farm leaders and members of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs were in attendance.

In the chairman's opening remarks, he explained the purpose of the conference, outlined the program for the day, and gave a brief discussion of the plan that has been set up in Missouri to cope with the insect problems. This plan includes a state insect control council operating with all agencies interested in the agricultural industry in Missouri and county insect control councils.

NAMES JACKSON AS SUCCESSOR TO REED

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—President Roosevelt nominated Robert H. Jackson of New York today to be solicitor general of the United States. He is now assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust cases.

Jackson will succeed Stanley F. Reed of Kentucky, who received his commission as a member of the supreme court from the President earlier in the day. Reed will take his seat on the high bench Monday.

Jackson, whose home is in Jamestown, N. Y., will be 46 on February 13.

As head of the anti-trust section, he was successful in several major prosecutions. One of the most recent was the conviction of 16 oil companies for conspiracy to raise and fix gasoline prices in ten mid-western states.

Entertainment Be Given

Preceding the dance Saturday night there will be a series of entertainments. Funds raised by the sale of tickets will be turned over to the chairman of the advisory committee, who will turn in the proceeds to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

According to Mr. Tate, under the new plan all funds throughout the nation will be concentrated and an organized effort will be made to control and eventually eradicate the disease. Under the new national set up there will be four objectives: scientific research, provide epidemic first aid for all communities attacked by the disease; proper care for those suffering from after effects of the disease; and direct financial grants by the national foundation to orthopedic centers for specific programs. Infantile paralysis communities will be established in communities consisting of local health officers, doctors, visiting nurses and agencies in the position to aid.

Mr. Tate is of the opinion that under the concentrated plan Sedalia will receive benefits in excess of the amount raised through the President's ball.

Vote Levy For Roads

Fifteen votes were cast in the special election in the Longwood special road district for a 25c levy on the $100 valuation for road and bridge maintenance, above the bonds and interest. The count was 14 for and one against.

SIT-DOWNERS IN WPA OFFICES AT JOPLIN EVICTED

Officers Smash Into Barricaded Building There Today

TWO ARRESTED ON RIOTING CHARGES

One Was Al Friedman, Organizer For Workers' Alliance of America

By The Associated Press
JOPLIN, Mo., Jan. 27.—Using axes and crowbars, a force of 16 officers under direction of Sheriff Harry O. Rogers and Detective Chief Ed Portley, smashed into the barricaded WPA building here today and evicted approximately 200 WPA sit-down strikers who had taken charge of the area offices yesterday.

The strikers, including a score or more women and children, walked peacefully from the building after police arrested their leader, Al Friedman of St. Louis, an organizer for the Workers' Alliance of America, and R. C. Wolf of Joplin on warrants charging rioting.

Friedman was knocked down and bruised, but not seriously injured when the officers said, he resisted them as they forced their way into the building. Handcuffed, but struggling, he was taken to jail.

Police, the sheriff's force and Constable W. H. Ford stormed the three-story building shortly after 11 o'clock this morning when the strikers ignored their demands to remove the barricades and open the doors.

They acted on a complaint filed by Prosecuting Attorney Roy Coyne, after W. Perry Grisham, area director of the WPA, had complained that the strikers denied him and his office force admittance to the building this morning. Coyne preferred the riot charge after conferring by long distance telephone with WPA officials in Jefferson City, who asked that the building be evacuated.

The sit-down started yesterday afternoon when WPA officials from division headquarters at Springfield failed to appear for a conference on the strikers' demands for a 30 per cent increase in pay and abandonment of split-shift methods of operation.

Not Put Up Fight
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27.—Matthew S. Murray, state administrator, asserted today he was not "going to fight" the 150 WPA sit-down strikers in Joplin.

"If they want to work, well fine and dandy, and if not, O. K.," commented Murray. "We're not going to fight them."

Murray said it was "impossible" to meet their demands.

"The Joplin projects are being operated under the same conditions throughout the country," Murray explained.

Regarding their demand for a 30 per cent increase in pay, the administrator tersely remarked: "That doesn't go."

Murray asserted the WPA workers are employed only about half the time, and that the split-shift method of operation does not reduce their pay, but does permit projects to be completed as rapidly as possible.

Another demand, Murray said, was in protest against a reported 30 per cent reduction in the rolls March 1.

"I don't know anything about that report," he said. "We can't anticipate what will happen that far in the future."

Murray said he was in communication with Guy L. Wade, district supervisor at Springfield, whom he ordered to go to Joplin.

"The situation is in Wade's hands, and it won't be necessary for me to go to Joplin," Murray added.

TRANSFORMER FIRE HERE ATTRACTS MANY

Attracted by a thunderous roar many Sedalians saw a spectacular display of electric pyrotechnics Wednesday evening when an electric transformer carrying 66,000 volts shot flames of flame twenty-five feet into the air in a miniature Aroura Borealis.

The transformer, located at the City Light and Traction company's sub-station between Ninth and Tenth streets, was one of the three on the line from Springfield.

Engineers at the company's plant said no cause for the fire will be determined until it is opened but that it may have been due to a short.

Electrical service was not hampered because a spare transformer was immediately put in use.

CHEERING NEWS FROM FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD

Encouragement In Its Monthly Review of Business Conditions

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Cheering reports on industrial production, foreign trade and wholesale business, coupled with findings that wage cuts have been few, encouraged administration officials today.

The federal reserve board said in its monthly review of business conditions the decline in industrial output—which caused concern near the end of 1937—had been halted this month.

The first three weeks of January, the report said, showed little change in production, as contrasted with December's decline. December's production figure on the index was 84, as compared with 89 in November.

The commerce department announced December exports of industrial machinery, automobiles and grain were high. The first two items had the best export month in nine years.

Foreign Trade Increased
The general increase in foreign trade during the last few months of 1937 was credited with playing a large part in making the year's total exports aggregate $3,345,658,000, almost a billion dollars more than in 1936.

The margin of exports over imports in 1937 was $261,597,000—about eight times as large as that of the previous year.

Wholesale domestic trade, the commerce department said, increased 11.5 per cent over 1936 and reached a total of $58,000,000,000.

Labor and commerce department officials indicated a belief that the President's appeal Tuesday against wage cuts was largely precautionary. They said few such reductions have appeared so far. Payrolls dropped in many plants, they explained, largely as a result of shortened work weeks.

Senator Byrd (D-Va) commented that corporations can maintain wage rates during economic down turns only if they have adequate reserves. To achieve this, he suggested repeal of the undistributed profits tax.

MOHR AT ARMY POST DAY OF KIDNAPING

A telephone message to Sheriff W. L. Marlin Wednesday evening, from F. B. I. headquarters in Kansas City, was to the effect that that office had checked records at Fort Douglas, Utah, Wednesday, and learned that Wilbur Mohr, held here for questioning in connection with the Mattson kidnap-slaying in Tacoma, Wash., was in camp in Utah the day the kidnapping took place. That was in December, 1936. The F. B. I. men said that unless officers had something further against Mohr he could be released. They took occasion, however, to compliment the Pettis county officers for "being on the job," thanked them for calling them.

Mohr admitted to the officers that he had deserted from the army, and a message to the sheriff here, as well as to F. B. I. men in Kansas City, stated that they army would not send for Mohr, but to release him and tell him to go to the nearest army post and report.

Mohr, who continually insisted to the officers that the only black mark against him was his desertion from the army, was released by Sheriff Marlin and was turned over to the residents of the farm where he has been working. He shook hands with the officers, said they had treated him nicely, but he was happy to be out and at liberty again.

SENATOR BURKE ASSAILS N.L.R.B., IN ASKING PROBE

Asserts Many Believe It Partly Responsible For Recession

CHARGE ACTIVITIES CREATE "STRIFE"

Makes Appeal To Senate Sub-Committee For Inquiry

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Senator Burke (D-Neb) declared today many persons believe "that no small part of the blame for the present appalling economic depression may properly be laid at the door" of the national labor relations board.

Burke, appearing before a senate judiciary subcommittee in support of his resolution for a congressional investigation of the board, asserted that the NLRB has threatened freedom of speech and of the press, has sided with the C. I. O. in industrial disputes, and has employed many trial examiners who "have little pretense" of fairness.

The board's activities, he said, have "produced more strife, more unrest, more uncertainty and more misunderstanding in the relationship between employer and employee than we have ever had before." The subcommittee will decide whether to recommend an investigation, but some legislators said its hearing could be broadened to form a virtual inquiry in itself.

Any senate investigation of the board was opposed by Senator Dieterich (D-Ill). He said he did not wish to make the senate "the wash room of all the dirty clothes that might be hung out on the line" and suggested that any charges against the board or its officials should be taken to the courts.

Burke replied that he did not charge wilful maladministration but rather that there was "faulty conception" of the board's duties in administering the law.

WASHINGTON FACES DILEMMA

Washington struggles desperately to pull itself off the sharp horns of a dilemma, and while policy waits and ponders, no one can be sure in which direction the next move will be made. It will be better for everybody when the picture clears. Here are the two horns: Oil companies have just been convicted at Madison, Wis., of violating the anti-trust laws by conspiring to fix the price of gasoline—that is, by getting together and mutually working out production and distribution problems, with a resultant agreement on the price. This violates the anti-trust laws against "combinations in restraint of trade." Very well.

But we have on the law books of the country the Guffey Act, which makes it necessary for the coal industry to do almost exactly that same thing by law. In fact, not so long ago, under the NRA, we had a national law under whose codes many industries set about standardizing production, competitive practices, and to a large extent prices.

Which road? Midnight oil burns in Washington in the effort to decide. On one side there is the feeling that restoration of true competition will bring prices down (and wages, no doubt, with them), and thus bring about greater production and more jobs.

On the other, there is the feeling that big business units ought to be allowed to get together and set universal wage standards, trade practices, and, to a large extent, prices, always with the government sitting in to protect the wage-earner and consumer. That tends to eliminate competition, and raise both prices and wages. Wage-hour legislation follows this school of thought.

Labor, at least as exemplified by John L. Lewis, seems to have espoused the latter course. But other segments of labor distrust it, feeling that it places labor's future in the hands of government boards and conferences, rather than in its own strong hands.

To an outsider looking in, there would seem to be fundamental opposition between the two plans. Confusion must follow a policy that decrees with its right hand that industry must compete with industry, and labor with labor, and with the left hand decrees that industry must join hands with industry in meting out the production and distribution field, and in portioning out labor's share.

Probably even this statement of the choice is too simple. Probably here as elsewhere nothing will work but eternal compromise. Perhaps certain large industries such as coal, and steel, and utilities, must be permitted to combine under government auspices and supervision, while others, less highly integrated and widely organized, must face the rigors of competition.

But until there is something approaching a choice of policies, or at least a clear statement of adherence to both in marked-off spheres, there is likely to be more marking time than we can well afford.

BARNUM AGAIN

The belief seems to be general that confidence men and grafters must seek out trusting widows of gullible old gentlemen with a life's saving in order to carry out their crafty machinations.

Their schemes, it is sometimes argued, are too transparent to be swallowed by worldly wise persons. But if that's true, what's the explanation for the recent occurrence in Williamsport, Pa., a thriving, modern city of 50,000.

A slicker appeared before city council, presumably a group of intelligent men who know what it's all about, and sold them on his idea for establishing a hatchery to produce a new "wormless chicken."

Before the stranger skipped town he had: cashed $3,000 in worthless checks; obtained $2,000 in cash for new cars which he never delivered; required two prospective employees to post $400 in cash bond for non-existent jobs, and collected $100 for a demonstrator which was never delivered.

JAPANESE SORROW

The Japanese bombed and sank the U. S. gunboat Panay in the Yangtze river. They machine-gunned survivors trying to get to shore, harassed them on land.

The Japanese were oh, so sorry. Officials and citizens alike joined in profound apologies. It was all a mistake.

So a Japanese newspaper started taking up a collection from citizens to show how sorry the nation was that the incident occurred. It amounted to 7,021 yen—$2,040 in American money.

That's how sorry the Japanese were for sinking a ship, killing three men and wounding a score.

U. S. Ambassador Joseph Grew announced he would use the money for some project to promote Japanese-American relations.

FROM FILES OF THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT

FORTY YEARS AGO

Editorial comment: The present federal administration is fearfully and wonderfully made; and all its ways are mysterious and unique.

The stockholders of the Peoples' Bank held their annual meeting Tuesday and elected the following directors: John Montgomery, Jr., R. L. Hale, W. J. Ferguson, Jacob Brandt, J. W. Warren, W. L. Porter and J. C. Van Riper. Mr. Porter was elected president, Mr. Hale, vice president and Mr. Van Riper, cashier.

A dispatch from Washington states that an American ship of war has been sent to Havana, for the first time since the Cubans began their last battle for freedom from Spain. The battleship Maine left Key West at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon under orders to steam into Havana harbor. Speaking to members of the senate who called at the White House to inquire if war was imminent, President McKinley assured them there was no immediate danger of ruction.

Gov. Stephens has appointed N. H. Gentry of Sedalia and Prof. D. Lee Roe of Ottumville College as members of the Missouri commission to the Omaha exposition.

WASHINGTON—Real reason for the President's announcement that he is still trying to raise prices to 1926 levels was not the reason he gave publicly in explanation of the startling statement.

He justified his shift from his recent repeated complaints that prices are too high and retarding recovery, by saying that he had been referring to the prices of raw materials, such as copper. However, it was steel, not copper, that prodded him into coming out for 1926 price levels, and behind this, in turn, was a desire to do something for John L. Lewis.

On February 8, the C. I. O. steel union opens negotiations with U. S. Steel on a new contract. The union will seek a renewal of its present wage scale with the argument that steel prices continue at a high peak. But should the price of steel break, the union would almost certainly have to take a wage cut.

The logic of this situation was very vigorously impressed on Roosevelt by Lewis during their conference several weeks ago.

"All this talk about prices being too high," the C. I. O. boss said, "is threatening the country's wage structure. If you reduce prices it is going to come out of the hide of labor. What the country needs is not price cuts but increased purchasing power."

So, despite the opposition of some Brain Trusters, the President went to bat for his biggest vote deliverer.

Union Hours
Justice George Sutherland was explaining to an old friend the reason for his retirement from the bench.

"Few people realize," he said, "how hard members of the Court work. A ten-hour day is not unusual."

I found I couldn't keep that pace any longer, and rather than retard the work of the Court I decided to make way for a younger and stronger man."

"Well, George," said the friend, smiling, "I think you missed a bet on the ten-hour day business. You should have called in the C. I. O. and organized the Court to obtain shorter hours and better working conditions."

Biggest Radio Station
It looks as if Charley Michelson, publicity solon of the Democratic National Committee, will have a chance to earn the salary he has been drawing from Crosley Radio, operators of WLW, Cincinnati, biggest broadcasting station in the country.

Through a sheer freak of fate, the question of whether its 500,000-watt license shall be renewed has been placed in the hands of WLW's chief enemy on the Federal Communications Commission, George Henry Payne.

About a year ago, Commissioner Payne fired a barrage of embarrassing questions at Powell Crosley, president of the radio company, asking what profits WLW made and why it should enjoy a more privileged status than other stations. Payne at that time was not on the broadcasting division of the FCC, and Crosley never answered his questions.

Now, however, the Commission is rotating its different duties among the commissioners, and last week it became Payne's sole duty to pass on whether WLW shall have a six months extension of its powerful license.

Payne is scheduling hearings on the matter, which in itself is unprecedented. Usually the license has been renewed as a routine matter.

Traffic Demon
Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, witty Massachusetts Congresswoman who is sponsoring a bill for a national traffic law, tells this story to illustrate the need for such legislation:

Receiving a telephone call that a friend had been seriously injured in a smash-up, she rushed to the hospital, where she found her friend conscious but badly bent.

"What happened?" Mrs. Rogers asked.

"Well, I was . . ." the friend started to say, when the nurse interrupted:

"I'll tell you. He tried to save three minutes going downtown and now he will be with us for three months."

Nuts or Brains
Adolf Berle, member of the President's reviving Brain Trust, was scheduled to give a radio broadcast some time ago and rushed to keep his appointment at 10:45 p. m. Arriving at the National Broadcasting studio in New York, together with Brain Trust-er Rex Tugwell and Jerome Frank, now SEC commissioner, Berle told the man at the desk:

"I am A. A. Berle and I'm going to broadcast at 10:45."

"Sorry," said the reception clerk, looking over the radio program for the evening, "but your name is not down here."

"Absurd," remonstrated Berle, "absolutely absurd. Almost as inefficient as your Agriculture Department, Rex."

"The program at 10:45 is the 'Nut Trio,'" replied the reception clerk, looking at the three Brain Trusters. "Is that who you are?"

Finally Berle's friends had him look at the written notification of his broadcast and found that it was scheduled for the Columbia Broadcasting System, not NBC. They jumped in a taxi and arrived at Columbia just in time. (Copyright, 1938, United Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

PROMPT TREATMENT AND GOOD NURSING ARE VITAL COMBATING PNEUMONIA

In preventing pneumonia it is first important to warn everyone not to come in contact with the person who has the disease, any more than they would with any other infectious condition. It is wise to avoid unnecessary crowds when influenza, grippes or colds are common.

Most important, however, is early and prompt care of the common cold when it occurs. The advice to go to bed immediately, to get medical attention whenever there is fever, aches and pains, or general weakness and to consider every glad you are that you married me just one year ago tonight?"

SHE held out a slender white arm to him; he took her hand and put his lips to its palm. But he did not offer any further demonstration. She was a little witch; she knew she could turn: him aside from all seriousness by means of those slender arms and sweet soft lips. She had used them: too often to win her own way.

"That's why tonight is a splendid time for new resolutions," he said. "A turning point: another beginning. We've played at marriage—and yes, it's been fun—for a whole year. Now we must begin to work at it."

"You didn't say you've been happy," she pouted. She turned toward him again, bent forward to touch a drop of perfume behind the tiny pink lobe of each dainty ear. She got up. "The finishing touch," she laughed. "Now I, too, am ready. Do I look beautiful enough to please you, my husband?"

"You always look beautiful to me," he said. Almost too beautiful, he thought, viewing her shining hair, bright eyes and lovely skin, the slender sheath of silver that encased her figure, the glitter of jewels on fingers and arms and neck. With a pang he recalled the girl he had married in the navy suit and perky hat, her hair wind-blown, her eyes laughing and radiant and warm. That girl had been beautiful in a different way. He could not explain the difference, unless it was of the spirit, but it had been there.

"Then you still love me, darling, after one whole year!"

"I expect to love you still after one whole lifetime!" His tone was sharp.

"But you're cross with me!" She linked an arm through his, urged him toward the door. "This is no time, darling, to be cross. Or to start talking seriously about working at life and marriage. . . ."

"That's just it," Bret said. "There never is time for that. We're always on the go, surrounded by people, rushing back and forth. I thought we might have a few minutes alone, before we had to go down to meet our guests, commence the feverish round of gaiety once more. . . ."

"That was sweet of you," she raised on tiptoe to brush his cheek with her lips. "We don't have much time together, do we? We'll talk about it tomorrow. We'll plan things differently. See what we should do about it."

HE was not convinced by her words; they were ones she had often voiced lately, too; ones with which she put him off, as with her arms and lips.

"We'll talk about it now," he said. He put his hands on her shoulders; his back against the door. "You've got to promise me now, darling, this night of our anniversary, that tomorrow we really will settle matters. Stop moving around, playing, entertaining or being entertained every waking second—practically every sleeping one! We'll settle tomorrow what we will do, where we shall live, about my own work again."

"Of course, darling—if you wish," Connie said. Anything to put him off, what was another promise more or less? She did not see what there was to settle. They were happy, just as they were, having a gorgeous time. If the first rosy glow of their love had been slightly dimmed, they still were very fond of each other, got along beautifully. Why shouldn't they go on as they were? Why should Bret persist in this wanting to settle down—talk about going back to work again?

"I mean a real promise," he persisted now. That grim line had settled about his mouth. He still blocked the door.

"Silly—I just did make you a promise, didn't I? We'll talk it all over tomorrow—if we possibly can. . . . Bret, you're hurting my shoulder—you'll muss my gown! Please, darling, let's go down. Our guests will be waiting."

"Sometimes I wonder if I oughtn't to hurt you," he murmured. But he dropped his hands, stepped aside. He knew her promise had not meant anything—"if we possibly can find time," she had said. He knew she would see that there would not be any time on the tomorrow, or the next, or the next.

What was wrong with him? Why did he allow Connie to pull him first this way and that? She had asked him if he was happy, if he was glad he had married her one year ago tonight. She had not noticed that he had not answered. He was not sure of the answer himself, at first.

He knew now that he had married Constance Corby, the richest girl in the world. He knew what it was beginning to do to him. He was caught. In the same golden cage, his wings had been clipped. He had lost his freedom; his own independence. He was not the same man he had been.

Or at least he would not be unless he made Connie listen to him. She thought she could put him off again tomorrow, but she would find she was mistaken.

cold as a possible first step toward pneumonia will help to prevent a great many cases.

Whenever a person with a cold has a sudden sharp rise in fever, a severe chill, pain on breathing, or coughs up blood from the lung, he should realize that the condition is sufficiently serious to have immediate medical attention.

Remember also that pneumonia is a disease which usually develops followed contact with someone who has the germs. Not every one develops the disease because some of us are physically in a better condition than others.

The maintenance of a good hygiene and of a good physical condition will help to ward off pneumonia. Many of the cases follow other conditions such as measles, whooping cough, over-exposure and chilling, drunkenness and poor nutrition.

In the treatment of pneumonia good nursing is vital. The patient will frequently to better in a hospital than at home, but the doctor must decide whether or not the condition is wise for the patient to be moved.

Nursing is of the greatest importance in providing complete rest and as much comfort as possible for the patient; in watching the development of the symptoms so that they may be taken care of as soon as they occur; and in aiding in the administration of oxygen or other remedies. When individual nursing is not possible, arrangements should be made to have the services of a visiting nurse.

It seems well established that the serums which have been perfected for types 1, 2, 5, 7, and 8 of pneumonia are the most useful of all of the serums now available. It has been shown that serum given on the first day is nearly twice as effective as that given later.

Since the correct serum can only be chosen after suitable typing, it is advisable in every case of pneumonia to have the typing done as soon as possible.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it better for a man to say: "Do you have the next dance taken?" or "May I have the next dance?"

2. Should a girl apologize for not following perfectly?

3. Should a man be responsible for dancing with his own partner whenever she does not have a dance taken?

4. May a girl ignore a partner's "Thank you" at the end of a dance?

5. At a party where there is no one presiding over the punch bowl, does the girl serve her partner and herself.

What would you do if—

You are a girl at the end of a dance, you find that your partner for the evening is nowhere in sight—

(a) Let your last partner worry about what to do with you?

(b) Ask to be excused and go to the dressing room for a minute or two?

(c) Ask him to take you to the chaperons' corner?

Answers

1. "May I have the next dance?"

2. A man takes the responsibility for all mishaps while dancing.

3. Yes, this is important.

4. No. She should reply "Thank you," or "Thank you. I enjoyed it."

5. No, the man serves her and then himself.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b) though (c) is all right, too. But if you want the man ever to dance with you again, don't try (a)

CHAPTER XXVIII

ANOTHER six months had passed and Connie and Bret had been married one year.

Into these last months had been crowded almost as much activity as during their honeymoon. They had followed the sun and the restless pursuits of gaiety, the never-ending search for new thrills and excitement that was the custom of the golden world into which Connie had been born.

Newport, Palm Beach, Bermuda, Switzerland, Cannes, Florida, California, Hawaii—a mad race from one to the next, a frantic rush somewhere else again. Or so it seemed to Bret and now he complained to Connie on this, their first anniversary.

"Why don't we stay put for a change?" he asked. "When are we going to settle down, honey, as we said we would, to the serious business of living? We can't keep this up forever, you know."

He had come into Connie's dressing room, where she sat, putting the last touches to her hair. They were having a dinner that evening in celebration of their anniversary.

This was not the first time Bret had voiced these same thoughts. He seemed to be voicing them more repeatedly lately; more persistently. Connie turned to look at him. He did not look like the man she had married—although Connie did not recognize that fact—any more than she looked as she had when she had pretended to be broad of shoulder; his eyes were as dark and direct; it was not that he wore immaculate white tie and tails instead of rough tweeds. There was something more; something that did not have to do with outward appearances. For outwardly, at least, Bret had adapted himself very well to his wife's golden world.

"We could keep it up forever, if we chose," Connie answered. She thought how handsome he looked. She hoped, though, he was not going to be difficult tonight of all times. "What's the matter, darling, aren't you happy? Aren't you going to kiss me and tell me how

QUIET JUMPY NERVES

Sleep good. Get back lost weight.

If your stomach won't let you eat three substantial meals a day, naturally you have to draw on your reserve vitality to keep going. This soon runs out. Then you become shaky, nervous, irritable, can't sleep, feel that fate has given you a raw deal. Stimulants and drugs (the first things most people think of) only make the condition worse. You must get the gastric juices to flow more freely. You do this by taking Tanlac. It soothes the disturbed stomach and increases your appetite. You will WANT to eat. Besides, Tanlac helps put the liver, kidneys and bowels in working order, so they will be able to do a good job and make you feel well again. Tanlac does this very thing. You will be rid of your biliousness, nervousness, acid indigestion and toxic headaches. You will begin putting on the extra pounds you need. You will sleep soundly, too. Ask for Tanlac at any drug store. But get only Tanlac.

CLOTHES FOR MEN AND WOMEN

The boxers met at the fire station this afternoon and were examined and weighed in by Dr. W. E. Beckemeyer, Missouri Athletic Commission examiner for this district. All boys appeared to be in the best of condition and were full of spirit for their contests tonight.

An Exhibition Match
As a "high-light" of the evening an exhibition match will be held between Denver L. "Buck" Miller of the flyweight division and Dean Murray, of the bantamweight division. Both boys are about evenly matched as to experience with the exception of Miller giving away about five pounds to his opponent. The boys drew a bye in the first night and agreed on this bout which is expected to be filled with plenty of action.

There will be a return fight between Newton Foster and William Henderson, colored boxers of the flyweight class who last week could not get "going." Both boys asked to be matched to redeem themselves to Sedalia fans for their poor appearance last week. It will be recalled when they met two weeks ago their bout brought the fans to their feet yelling and cheering and plenty of flying leather is expected in this match.

Coach Joe Ordway assisted by Clarence Henley this afternoon are completing other matches as the boys are weighed and examined. Every bout is being evened up as to the class weight, the experience in fights and training.

Boxers From Boonville
Several boxers from Boonville are being brought to Sedalia to give local boys who were successful in drawing a bye for tonight. "Billy" Smith is being placed against one of the outstanding Golden Glove contenders from that city who is entered in the Eastern District tournament at Columbia.

Matches are also being made for Alvin Cole, colored, and David Hill, colored, which should prove out very interesting to the boxing fans.

Tickets for the bouts tonight can be obtained at the Sedalia Democrat; Pacific Cafe; Frank Hugelmann's Cigar Store, Bothwell Drug Store, and tickets for colored fans can be purchased at the Kentucky Club on West Main street. Ringside seats are fifty-five cents; Reserved seats at forty cents; General Admission twenty-five cents; and General Admission for children fifteen cents.

Among some of the entries received from Pettis county and teams are: Ben Armstrong, William Baker,

"Bob" Bowling, J. D. Burke, Byron Barber, Pearley Bowers, Lloyd Bowers, Thomas "Tommy" Craig, J. C. DeJarnett, Harold DeJarnett, Mark Green, Harold Harmon, Houstonia; "Mike" Hughes, Wallace Janzen, Leroy Laughlin, John Fleming, Cecil Landers, Glenn Lower, Gerald Logan, Elwood McMackin, Dean Murray, Harry "Fifi" Magariel, Walter Martin, Raymond "Bud" Martin, D. L. "Buck" Miller, Richard Phillips, Woodrow Pummill, Houstonia; Frank Russell, J. H. Zehring, Lyle Sneathen, Pete Stuart, Earl Stuart, Kenneth Schrader, "Billy" Smith, Warren Trobaugh, "Billie" Williams, Norwell Edison Wagner, Houstonia; Daniel Wilson, James Wright, Joe Walker, "Billy" Snuffer, Aggie McMillian, both of Clinton; Merl Capps of Sedalia.

The Wentworth team from Lexington is composed of Virgil Noriega, Jack Lemaster, Pierce Allen, Chester Thurston, Harper Lavelle, Donald Taylor and Walter Rogers.

AUKER LOOKS FOR A GOOD SEASON

By The Associated Press.
LAKELAND, Fla., Jan. 27.—Ziden Auker, Detroit's veteran submarine ball pitcher, looked forward confidently today to one of his most successful seasons—partly because Rudy York will be behind the plate.

"I like to pitch to Rudy," said Auker, who won 17 and lost nine in 1937 to lead the Tiger hurlers. "He works hard, he has a high powered arm, he's death on foul pops and his slugging puts him in a class by himself."

"He's going to be one of baseball's greatest catchers," Auker said York, who holds the major league record for the most home runs in one month, would polish up his game this year and reach his peak in another season or so.

Auker expects the American league pennant race to be closer this year.

"Those Yanks may not know it, but they're going to miss old Tony Lazzari a lot," he said. "That guy probably didn't get 40 hits last year, but he won a ball game with mighty near every one of them. And he kept that infield on its toes, too. A great ball player, and I'd a lot rather face mighty near any 350 hitter in a pinch than to see old Tony walk to that plate."

Auker said he thought New York was due for a decrease in pitching efficiency, while Detroit's mound staff should be better.

MANAGERS TO BE SCARCE ON ACTIVE PLAYING LIST

Rogers Hornsby, Great Hitter of His Day, Not Be In Big Leagues

BY SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—You're going to find the playing-manager as scarce as the hair on a bald head when this season rolls around.

Old Pop Time has just about completed a mop-up campaign that will leave only one, Joe Cronin of Boston's Red Sox, still doing regular business at the old stand. It's going to be far different from the last few years, when more than half the dugouts in the big leagues were bossed by maestros doubling as stars in the cast.

They'll be saying good bye for keeps to the greatest right-hand hitter of his day, Rogers Hornsby, who won't even be in a big park, and two of the classic of modern third basemen, Pie Traynor and Jimmy Dykes.

Traynor, particularly, won't even be on the Pirates' roster except as manager. He's definitely decided that he's all through, and will rest on the 319 batting average and the smooth fielding record he compiled in his 16-year career. Dykes will make up his mind after a spring training workout whether he'll get into action for his 21st season, but it's highly unlikely, since he now has Marv Owen to handle the hot corner for his White Sox.

At Least Six Missing
Altogether, six of the nine pilots who were on the active playing list last year, including both Hornsby and his St. Louis Browns' successor, Jim Bottomley, will be missing from the playing rosters for 1938. And two of the other three probably won't see enough action to warrant getting into the box office.

This group, incidentally, represents some of the most valuable playing ivory of this modern school. Seven of the nine hit for well over .300 in careers stretching from 11 to 22 years. Altogether they make up an infield and catching department that reads like a "dream team." For instance, there would be Bill Terry or Bottomley on first; Hornsby or Fordham on second; Cronin at shortstop; and Dykes or Traynor on third, with a catching department of Mickey Cochrane and Jimmy Wilson.

But except for Cronin, they've about hung up their gloves for good. Hornsby, at 42, is all through because he bet on the races. They'll have to look a long way to find another Rajah who compiled a .359 average in his 22-year career up to the end of the 1936 campaign, and even hit for .321 in a 20-game appearance last year.

Cochrane, who will direct the Tigers from the bench because of the accidental "bean ball" that ended his playing days last May, will go down as one of baseball's all-time catching greats in his 13-year career.

Frish, who may take a turn or two at bat for the Cardinals in 1938, depending on how he feels, goes out with a 316 mark for 18 years. Like the Fordham Flash, Wilson, the Phillies' cagy catcher-manager, probably will get into harness a few times. He only worked in 22 games last year, his 16th big league season.

Terry, who was on the Giants' active playing list year ago, has written finis to a first-base performance that was a picture on defense for 14 years and accompanied by a .341 lifetime batting average.

Bottomley, out of the big-time after 16 years, goes into the minor leagues with a managerial assignment at Syracuse.

JUNIOR GOLDEN GLOVES STAGE BENEFIT SHOW

Bouts By Little Fellows Amuse Crowd—Proceeds To Aid Pal

The "Junior Golden Glove" benefit boxing show promoted by Frankie Joe "Mike Jacobs" Hugelmann for "Tommy" Caves, thirteen year old student at Mark Twain school, netted $6.70 and proved to be a real rival of the regular Golden Glove boxing tournament.

Frankie Joe, known as the boy with a heart as big as a barrel, is the son of Councilman and Mrs. Frank Hugelmann, 314 South Sneed avenue. He conceived the idea of holding a boxing show last week and made his first presentation in the basement of his parents' home and the proceeds figured up to $3.60.

"Now I believe we got enough to get 'Tommy' that new suit and boy will he feel good," Frankie Joe told his assisting friends.

The second boxing show was staged at Convention hall, Liberty Park Wednesday afternoon with six rounds of boxing which proved as much entertainment for the grownups as it did for the students at Mark Twain. Shortly after 4:30 the children started running through the park, closely followed by teachers and parents, and a number of customers who Frankie Joe had "personally" told to be on hand, but bring their dime.

Some Rounds Stretched
Some of the rounds were a little longer than others and that was

LOVE IN BLOSSOM

John Trent and Shirley Ross, who carry the romantic leads of "Blossoms on Broadway," gay new musical opening tomorrow at the Liberty Theatre, featuring Edward Arnold and Weber and Fields. Rufe Davis, William Frawley and Frank Craven are in the cast.

explained by Timekeeper Frank "Pop" Hugelmann, that he couldn't see the second hand of his watch very well, but when any of the boys got the worst of it the bell would ring, and then the ball would ring with yells from the fans that made the grown ups look sheepish in their vocal efforts.

The first bout brought blood, Harry "Kid" Paxton losing to Rusty "Kid Owen" Hughes, with a bloody nose. But Harry didn't seem to mind.

"Battling Benny" Boland, mid-gut boxer, lost a decision to Cal Rodgers, after the referee stopped the fight because of the overweight of Rodgers.

Harold "Kid" Tipton lost to "Benny Leonard" Kanter after three hard fought rounds. Kanter had a little more arm length and kept jabbing Tipton in the head which proved very inconvenient.

"Bob" Griessen and Gordon Capes fought three fierce rounds to end in a draw. It was one of the best battles on the card and their fighting ability and their manner of handling themselves in the ring would make some of the professionals look sick.

"Billy" Lyles outpointed Frankie Joe Hugelmann, who was introduced by Referee Curran as being "Some boy, a promoter, match-maker, manager and a fighter."

Hugelmann still believes his dad went to sleep with the watch as the rounds proved a little longer than he anticipated. He indicated that a new timekeeper will serve when he fights again.

Teddy "Kid" Llewellyn and Truman Farris put on a fight which equalled that of the Griessen-Capes battle. Both boys never once backed up and through the three rounds were continuously swapping leather. It ended in a draw.

AMAZING CAREER ON THE GRIDIRON

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Bill De Correvont, blond bullet of the gridiron, steps into a new sphere tomorrow that may lead to everlasting gridiron fame.

This 19-year-old youth will be graduated from Austin high school after an amazing gridiron career that made him the outstanding prep player of the nation. His feats include nine touchdowns in one game, in ten attempts, one or more touchdowns in every game in which he has played and more than 200 points in registering 35 touchdowns.

After a couple weeks of loafing De Correvont plans to settle down to work until the time he enters the university of his choice for an intercollegiate career next fall. He has been offered no less than 25 jobs for immediate employment.

Rumor number 967 that De Correvont already has selected the university which he intends to enter was sweeping Chicago in advance of his graduation. The latest was that he was going to Northwestern, but this drew a weary denial from the touchdown maker and his principal adviser, Austin Ryan, personnel director at Austin high school.

Ryan was emphatic in declaring that that De Correvont had not made any selection for enrollment in any college.

"Bill is not going to college until next fall and he has not made up his mind where to go," Ryan said. "The rumor that he had definitely chosen Northwestern has no basis."

Although De Correvont's fame has come from his exploits on the gridiron, baseball will also play an important part in his intercollegiate career. An outfielder, he is equally as good on the diamond as he is on the gridiron. After his college career he may seek honors in the major leagues. Four clubs already have made overtures to him.

LAUNCH FORESTRY PROGRAM MARCH 1

By The Associated Press. JEFFERSON CITY Jan. 27.—Plans of the state conservation commission to launch its forestry program March 1, were announced today by Director Irwin T. Bode.

Employment of a state forester will be the first step. The commission has decided, Bode said, to set aside 7 per cent of its income for the forestry division by July 1 and to increase this to 15 per cent "as rapidly thereafter as possible."

The 1936 constitutional amendment creating the commission vested in it control, restoration and conservation of the forestry resources of the state.

The commission will be able to share in certain federal funds and cooperative measures as soon as the forestry program is started.

Acquisition of state forests is among the purposes for which the commission proposes to spend its forestry funds and any federal aid received.

DIVORCE GRANTED MRS. CULBERTSON

RENO, Nev., Jan. 27.—(AP)—The Ely Culbertsons, who formed a business partnership to win fortune and fame from contract bridge, were divorced Wednesday.

but they planned to continue working together in the field of their favorite game.

Mrs. Culbertson, the former Josephine Murphy, obtained a final decree on grounds of mental cruelty. She said her business partnership with Culbertson would not be affected.

"We are still very friendly," she insisted, "and we expect to continue to work together."

A few weeks ago, in New York, she said the sole cause for the suit was her husband's "ultra-temperamental moods" and his insistence upon publishing "a brutally frank story of his life to teach my children how to do things."

Culbertson, now in Europe, agreed at that time that he was guilty of "temperamental outbursts" and added that "I hope some day she'll want to marry me again. The wonder of it is that she has been able to stand my temperamental outbursts all these years."

TRANS-ATLANTIC
FLYER MERRILL ONCE
BASEBALL PLAYER

Captain Dick Merrill, who holds the record for the fastest two-way journey ever completed over the Atlantic ocean, was at one time a professional baseball player.

After he left the University of Mississippi at Oxford, Miss., in 1913, he was engaged by the Texas-Oklahoma League as professional baseball pitcher. Later, he joined the Wisconsin-Illinois League as pitcher and occasional three-bag hitter.

His last participation in baseball was with the Fort William, Ontario, League just before the outbreak of the World War.

Like so many great Americans, Captain Merrill has not confined his interests to one career. He has been a railroader, baseball pitcher, and transport pilot. His life has been very active.

And as an active American, Dick Merrill has chosen the breakfast of Great Americans, Quaker Oats. A hot breakfast of Quaker Oats with sugar and cream is the choice of many active people who have to guard with Vitamin B foods against nervousness and indigestion.

MARTHA LOGAN serves

Spaghetti and Meat Balls

A blue pottery chop late makes this economical dish of meat balls and spaghetti look as regal as they taste. For variation use beef, 1/2 pound ground pork, 1 1/2 pounds salt, and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Prepare a tomato sauce, using of the spaghetti.

2 tablespoons lard, 1 can paste, 2 cups tomato pulp, 1 shredded pimiento, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons butter. Add meat balls. Simmer 45 minutes.

Served on cooked spaghetti. Sprinkle generously with grated sharp cheese.

Menu Hint

Baked Salmon Sandwich Stewed Tomatoes Creamed Turnips Apple-Celery Salad Custard Pie Coffee Whether your religion requires you to refrain from meat on Friday or not, it is a very good plan to have one day a week, at least, without serving meat, substituting fish or vegetables. This baked salmon sandwich is an economical and tasty dish to use as such a substitute. As bread is used in the casserole to give the meal starch, I have omitted potatoes in the menu.

Meat Pie

By Martha Logan

The nursery rhyme tells of "four and twenty blackbirds baked in a pie," but for my part I prefer beef steak, pork or kidney fillings for my "dainty dish."

Many times the family will declare that the meat pie made from left over roast or steak is better than the original meat service. There are many ways of varying the filling but one should remember to apply savory sauce or gravy generously because the oven period and the biscuit topping will reduce the liquid.

Your family recipe for meat pie may call for ground meat, but we like to cut it into small pieces rather than to grind it. When using beef or lamb, we brown the meat in a small quantity of drippings so that the gravy is a rich brown. If the family likes a highly seasoned sauce, brown a little sliced onion, some chopped green peppers and a little celery to add to the gravy. Because veal and pork are such delicately flavored meats, these pieces are usually made with a white sauce to which is added cooked peas, celery, diced cooked potatoes, or hard cooked egg.

For added flavor one may add some minced ham or bits of crisp bacon. A variety of cooked vegetables may be used, though dried carrots, peas, tomatoes, and mushrooms are the favorites.

Then for the topping, a rich baking powder biscuit dough. Combine the seasoned cubed meat, sauce and vegetables. Heat. Place in a hot greased casserole. Cover with small diamonds or rounds cut from baking powder biscuit dough and bake in a hot oven until the biscuits are baked and brown. Some may prefer a pastry, mashed potato, or rice covering, or perhaps these toppings are varied from time to time. Whatever the combination, here are the characteristics of a good meat pie: Plenty of cubes of well seasoned meat in a goodly amount of rich gravy with a crisp flavorful topping, brought to the table steaming hot and altogether delectable.

Beef Steak and Kidney Pie
Filling:
2 pounds beef steak (cut 3/4 inch thick)
2 small veal kidneys
2 small onions
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup flour
1/2 cup fat
2 teaspoons Worcestershire Sauce.

Cut steak into 1 1/2 inch squares. Dredge with flour and season with salt and pepper. Sauté until brown in heavy kettle. Add sufficient water to more than cover the meat. Add chopped onions, sauce and seasoning. Place on heat to simmer.

Prepare kidneys as directed. Place in a kettle, cover with cold water, bring to a boil, drain and repeat a second time. Add kidneys to the meat in the kettle and simmer all together until tender, about 2 hours. Continue to add liquid and stir from time to time to keep meat from sticking. Remove meat to a casserole, add enough liquid from the kettle to fill the casserole, and set aside to cool.

Cover with plain pastry and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes until the crust is a golden brown.

REPORT SLAP TO AMERICAN BY A 'JAP' SENTRY

Says Third Secretary of Embassy at Nanking Refused Entry

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Jan. 27.—Domei (Japanese news agency) reported today that a Japanese sentry slapped the face of John M. Allison, third secretary of the U. S. embassy at Nanking and presently in charge there, when he sought to enter a house despite the sentry's objections.

Domei quoted a military report thus: "Allison sought to enter a house, to which the Japanese objected, the sentry telling Allison not to enter, which Allison did not heed. The sentry slapped the American's face and prevented entry into the house."

The report asserted the house was Chinese and held Allison had no right to enter it. The report continued, according to Domei, that Japanese authorities apologized and were undertaking to reach a settlement locally."

Japanese reports said another American, whose name was not given, was accompanying Allison and also was roughly handled.

Allison, said the Japanese accounts, immediately filed a protest with the Japanese consulate-general.

One Japanese version of the affair said the affair occurred not when Allison sought to enter a house, but when the Japanese tried to get him to leave a house into which he had gone accompanied by Japanese gendarmes on a tour of inspection.

The Japanese, said this version, repeatedly asked Allison to leave, but he refused.

Await Official Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The state department awaited an official report today from Third Secretary John M. Allison at the embassy in Nanking before making any comment on reports that he was slapped in the face by a Japanese sentry.

Officials said they were without information on the incident. Allison has recently reported to the department various instances of looting of American property and mistreatment of Chinese native servants of Americans by the Japanese military in Nanking.

His reports prompted Secretary Hull to make vigorous representations to the Tokyo government a few days ago against such treatment.

REPORT GIVEN TO FARMERS FROM COUNTY AGENT

ty extension agent. This report included an outline of the situation in the county and the results that had been obtained through terracing, the use of fertilizer, agricultural limestone, and the production of certified seed, seed treatment, new crops, feed conservation, insect control and the work of 4-H clubs and community leaders. The report showed that 3,104 tons of agricultural limestone, 6 1/4 tons of fine limestone and 634 tons of commercial fertilizer had been used by Pettis county farmers during the past year. Four hundred thirty acres of land had been terraced to control soil erosion. The report further showed that on 790 Pettis county farms in 1937, 24.6 per cent of the crop land was in grasses and legumes. Since 85 to 90 per cent of the farm income in Pettis county is from livestock and livestock products, Mr. Morris emphasized the importance of a balance between livestock numbers and crop production on Pettis county farms.

To Check Soil Erosion
O. T. Coleman, extension specialist in soils and crops from the Missouri College of Agriculture, outlined the fundamental principles of this year's conference. He stated that some changes in farming systems seems to be necessary to check soil erosion and increase farm incomes in Pettis county. The program planning committee for Pettis county had indicated in their study that certain shifts in crop land uses and livestock utilization are necessary to control erosion, increase soil fertility and stabilize farm incomes. If these recommended shifts, such as a decrease in corn acreage, slight decrease in wheat and oat acreage, a fairly large increase in winter barley acreage and an increase in all types of pastures are adopted, certain new problems will have to be met. He states that this conference was an ideal place to consider these problems. Some of the problems discussed which had to do with these shifts were changed crop rotations, new production practices and having available necessary supplies and materials such as seed, machinery, fertilizers, and limestone.

One of the most effective means of giving Pettis county farmers the information necessary in bringing about these changes in the most practical way is through the experience of farmers who have carried out these recommended practices.

Following this discussion by Mr. Coleman, farmers who had been successful in carrying out some of the recommended practices were called on to report their experiences.

Howard Heffernan reported on his terracing program which he started last summer by terracing a twenty-seven acre field. He reported that prior to terracing, a few gullies had formed in the field which made it nearly impossible to do an efficient job of binding when harvesting small grain. The construction of these terraces is eliminating these gullies and working very satisfactory.

Discuss Use of Lime
Scott Mahin of LaMonte discussed his experiences with the use of fine lime in growing sweet clover. In the spring of 1936, he applied 300 pounds of fine lime per acre at the time the sweet clover was seeded. The land on which this application was made had a lime requirement of 3 1/2 tons of agricultural limestone per acre. Due to a heavy rain following the seeding, all the seed did not come up and the stand was further reduced by the drought during the summer months; however, a fair stand was obtained. In 1937, a seed crop was produced. In harvesting the seed with a combine, only about one-third of the seed was saved. However, Mr. Mahin harvested approximately 30 bushels of seed from this ten acre field.

A report on the use of atlas sorgo for silage was given by Thomas J. Raines of Nelson, Mo. He reported that he had produced a sorgo crop for the past three years and found it to be a crop which produced heavily and acted as an insurance crop in that it was very resistant to drought and insect damage. In the spring of 1937, a 1 1/2 acre field was seeded with certified seed at the rate of six pounds per acre. In the fall of 1937, twelve acres were harvested for silage producing eighteen tons per acre and the remaining one and one-half acres were threshed for seed, producing 45 bushels.

Luncheon at Noon
At noon the delegates lunched at the First M. E. church as guests of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis club. The invocation was given by Rev. Quincy R. Wright, J. L. Rosenthal, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, acted as toastmaster and gave the address of welcome for the civic organizations. George R. Wilkerson presented the response for the delegates and expressed their appreciation for the cooperation and interest shown by the civic groups in the conference. Following the luncheon, the officers for the next year's conference were elected. The present officers, that is, George R. Wilkerson, president; M. C. Scott, vice president; George Fichter, secretary, and William J. Lamm, registrar, were unanimously re-elected.

Mr. Coleman was again introduced and discussed with the group the use of the all-year pasture system on Pettis county farms. The uses of the all-year pasture system consists of utilizing permanent bluegrass pasture during the spring months, Korean lespedeza during the summer months and fall, small grains during the fall and early winter, bluegrass pasture again during the latter part of the winter and a fall seeded small grain during the early spring. This, however, can be changed by using some of the pasture crops which would fit into the all-year pasture system. The reseeding of pastures, where the fertility of the land was too low to profitably produce bluegrass, with a mixture of timothy, orchard grass, red top and Korean lespedeza was recommended by Mr. Coleman where stands of grasses in the pastures had been reduced. He also advocated the use of phosphate fertilizers, barnyard manures, and limestone as soil treatments in attempting to secure a good stand of pasture grasses.

After completing the discussion on the above problem, E. B. Winner, assistant county agent, outlined briefly the soils and crops and soil conservation work planned for the county for the year 1938. The continued use of agricultural limestone and fertilizers and the construction of terraces will again be major activities on the soils and crops program in 1938. Hybrid seed corn adapted to Pettis county will be grown on four farms. Further work will be done on one-year rotations, such as small grain lespedeza or small grain-soybeans which are effective in providing grain and forage as well as conserving soil. Other practices, such as weed control and insect control are included in the program. Mr. Winner pointed out that the success of the soils and crops program in the past and their success in the future was largely due to the cooperation of local leaders and farmers in carrying out such programs.

Pettis County Divorce
Married scarcely two months Herbert Howard Braden brought a suit in the circuit court against Mary Elizabeth Braden, to whom he was married November 20, 1937. General indignities are alleged.

H. T. Williams is attorney for the plaintiff.

SOCIETY

Miss Margaret Grace O'Brien, of Boonville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Timothy O'Brien, who were pioneer residents of Spring Fork, and James M. Shields, M.K.T. engineer, also living in Boonville, were married at 9 o'clock this morning at the parsonage of the Catholic church by the pastor, Monsignor Shilling. The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the bride's sister, Mrs. Thomas H. Donahue and Mr. Donahue, of Boonville.

The bride wore a brown velvet dress, with coat and accessories also of brown, and a corsage of Jonannahill roses. Breakfast was served the bridal party at the Donahue home after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Shields left for a wedding trip to Galveston, Texas, and upon their return, about the third of February, will take up their residence in Boonville.

Miss O'Brien, now Mrs. Shields, was reared at Spring Fork. She entered the hospital of the Sisters of Mercy, Fort Worth, Texas, as a student nurse and completed her course in nursing there. After her graduation she went to Boonville, where she has since been nursing at St. Joseph's hospital, and where she is one of the most capable and efficient members of the nursing staff. She frequently came to Sedalia to visit for she has a number of brothers and sisters here.

Mr. Shields is in service on the east end of the Katy, running from Boonville to St. Louis.

At the meeting of the Westminster Class of the Broadway Presbyterian church, held Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. John W. Baker, with Miss Bess Brinton assisting hostess, a miscellaneous shower was given Mrs. Jack Funk, a recent bride.

After the business session a social time was enjoyed, and then it was Mrs. Funk was honored with the shower planned as a surprise for her. As part of the refreshments the hostess brought in a beautiful "wedding cake," which the bride cut.

The marriage of Mr. Funk and Miss Hughes took place at Bolivar, Mo., October 5, 1937, the ceremony performed by the Rev. Lester Greenwood, Methodist minister.

Mr. Funk is a well known Sedalia business man, and his bride, who is a member of one of Pettis county's well known families, has for several years been associated with him in the business as bookkeeper.

The meeting of the D. A. R., postponed from last week because of the death of one of its members, Mrs. W. S. Trader, will be held Friday of this week at the home of Mrs. A. L. Shortridge, 720 West Broadway.

The meeting will be on Friday instead of Saturday in order not to interfere with the Sorosis card party on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heck of Sedalia entertained Tuesday evening at a turkey dinner the following friends:

Mr. and Mrs. Teddie Davner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins, Fred Kueck, Miss Elsie Brown, Miss Morganstirn, Clint Sands, all of Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Wilson of Beaman, Mrs. Eva Fletcher, Wesley Bucher of Green Ridge.

Music Club Program

The Heard Memorial Club House presented a most picturesque setting to members of the Helen G. Steele Music Club as they came to their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon.

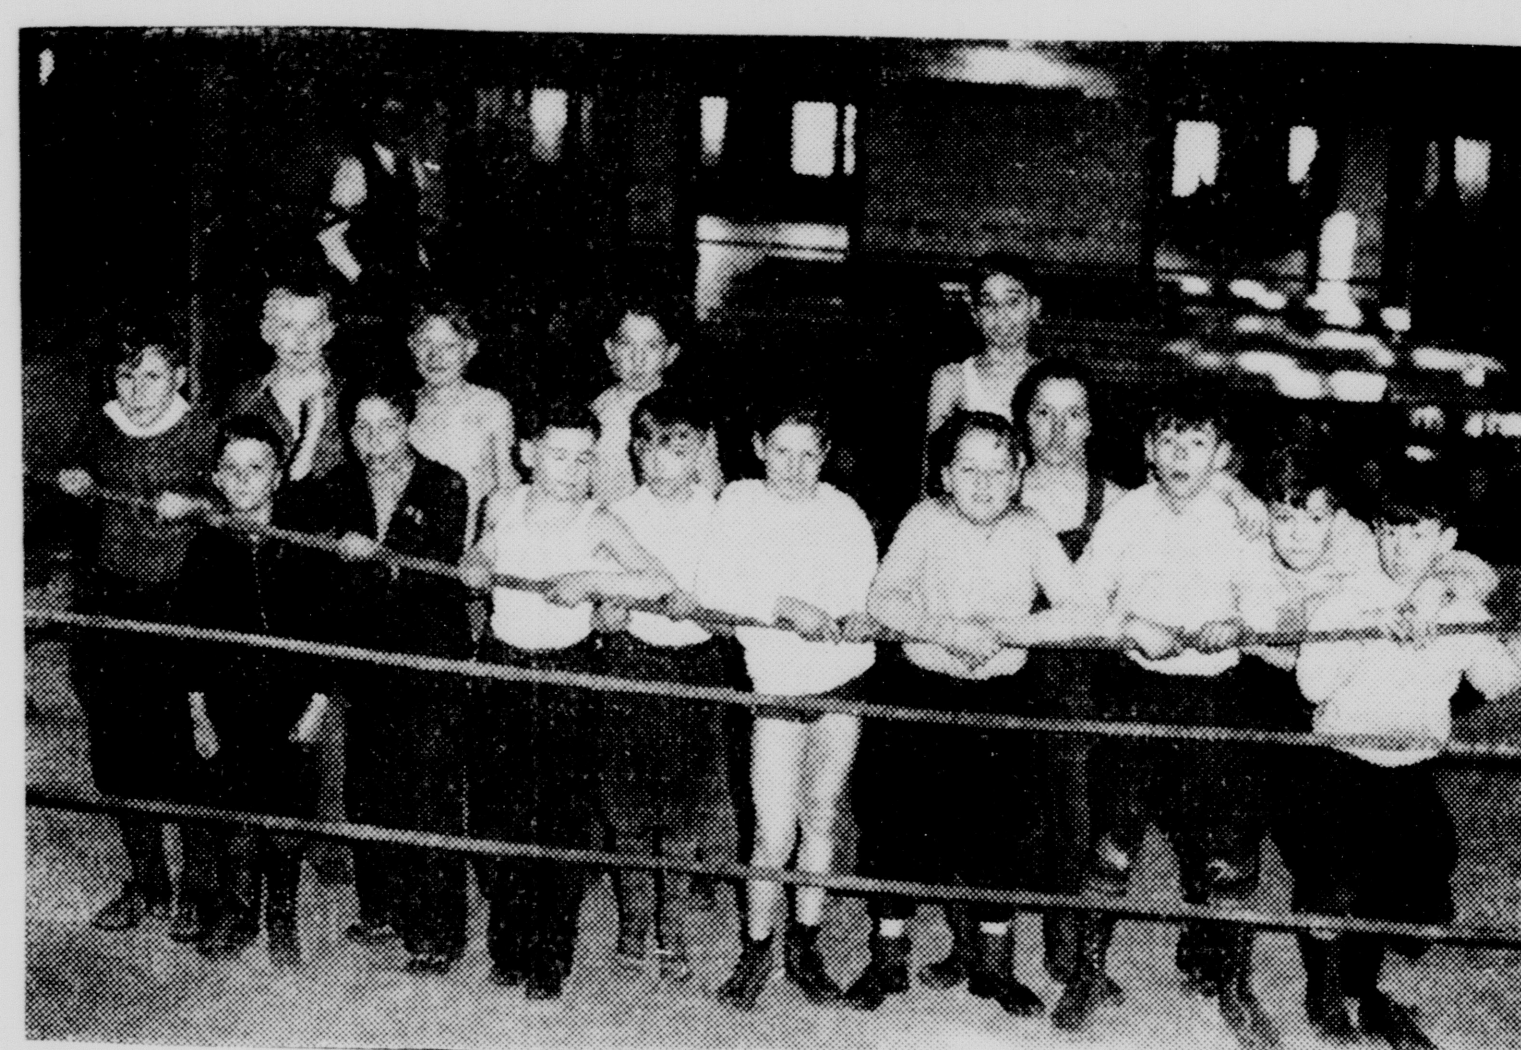

The stair rails were draped with Indian blankets and the curtains across the stage were of blankets with Navajo rugs. Before the program of the afternoon was presented, Mrs. E. F. Yancey, president, announced the annual chorus program to be given March 18th, also the President's Ball Saturday night, January 29th, to which the club always contributes. The Sorosis "game party" for Saturday afternoon, January 29th, at 2 o'clock was announced by Mrs. D. P. Dyer. The next program for the Music Club is February 9th, "Slavonic Music," with Mrs. Fred Ross as chairman.

Mrs. John Z. Montgomery, substituting for the educational chairman, introduced J. T. Alexander, of Smith-Cotton high school faculty, and interviewed him on the subject, "Band and Orchestra Music." Mr. Alexander in his answers told of the formation of orchestras and bands, the difference in the two and named some of the outstanding organizations in each group at the present time. The great composer, Haydn, is considered the "father of orchestra."

The first outstanding and most well remembered band is the First Regimental Band of King Louis IV. In naming the great orchestras of the day he mentioned the great eastern symphonies. In naming the bands he included the University of Illinois Band. He left a copy of the interview to be filed with the librarian and which will be of help in the future.

The program was then given as was published in Sundays paper. In Miss Couey's first reading she painted a word picture of a typical Indian village with the women seated around the campfire doing their daily chores of weaving, corn grinding, beading, and quilting their babies. As the curtains were drawn we saw in actuality the village with the women around the campfire, and the first group of numbers were lullabies sung by the chorus. During Miss Couey's second reading the setting changed slightly and as Mrs. Demand sang the next group "Occupational Songs," the three were busy with their various work, corn grinding, weaving, and blanketing.

Little Miss Betty Rose gave an Indian dance as you see children around a camp doing as their fathers have taught them. Miss Couey's last reading was the lovely Longfellow poem, "Hiawatha's Wooing," and was followed by Victor Herbert's "Indian Love Call," from "Rose Marie," sung by Mrs. B. H. Wenner. The closing group sung by the chorus were the well known "By the Waters of Minnetonka," and "The Land of the Sky-Blue Water."

As the campfire grew dim and night fell on the camp, Mrs. Abe Rosenthal sang "The Moon Drops Low."

This was one of the most unusual programs seen and heard this year and much of the credit goes to Mrs. Sam Milton who was chairman, but on account of sickness, Miss Martha Redmond was appointed to continue and she did fine work and is to be highly complimented.

This program was presented as a compliment to Sorosis on Monday and they have been asked to repeat it at the President's Ball on Saturday but are not fully decided as yet.

Receiving hostesses for the day were Mrs. Fred K. Shaffer and Mrs. Lee Steele.

CHURCH EVENTS

The spiritual life group of the Women's Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, South will meet at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning with Mrs. Louis Hoffman of 901 South Missouri avenue. All women of the church are invited.

The Lawson Circle of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church will meet with Mrs. Clarence Holst, 1500 East Fifth street on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Chas. Griggs, assisting hostesses.

ed irregulars within 25 miles of the city.

Secret Societies Active

What in some instances seems to be passive submission of 100,000,000 Chinese to the dictates of Japan's army carefully hides effective underground patriotism, say those who know China.

At least 100 secret societies are reported stirring the nation to action through devious methods. "We can't fight the Japanese with our bare hands," said one prominent Chinese in Peiping recently, "but our organization in Tientsin already has sent 1,200 winter coats to Chinese irregulars west of Peiping."

"What is more, the shipment to Peiping was made through a Japanese transport company."

One secret society in Tientsin publishes a daily mimeographed newspaper to disseminate anti-Japanese information. It is distributed mysteriously to patriotic Chinese.

Every ruler of China in her recorded history has had to reckon with such underground societies as today confront Japan. A striking example of these orders is the Triad society which campaigned against the Manchus for more than two centuries. Scattered throughout the nation it formed eight different rebellions.

Nearly all Chinese who have emigrated to the United States are members of this Triad society and quarrels within its ranks brought on the famous Tong wars of American Chinatowns.

Eighty-three Englishmen died in 1934 of wounds received in the World War.

flicted upon them by this board and its horde of examiners, investigators and other representatives."

Sprinkling his testimony with detailed references to board actions, Burke asserted witnesses could be produced to offer proof of these contentions:

"That organizers for certain labor organizations have been deputized as agents of the board, and supplied with credentials which they have used unfairly in the effort to obtain information in order to make out a case."

"That agents of the board attend certain types of union meetings and solicit the signing of affidavits for the purpose of obtaining material to institute complaints."

"That the board has appointed examiners known to be prejudiced in favor of one party."

"That in certain cases where the examiner has not reported in accordance with the desires of the board it has withdrawn the case from the examiner in order to secure the kind of report it set out to secure."

Unfairness Is Claimed

"That the board has appointed examiners for individual cases upon a per diem basis, which has resulted in long-drawn-out hearings and reports of the kind which the board favored."

"That the board expended government funds in the payment of witnesses and counsel on behalf of one labor organization, and requires other labor groups and employers to pay excessive expenses in defending complaints."

"That the board has refused to call elections on the petition of an independent union in the effort thereby to build up other unions of the kind the board favors."

"That the board furnishes as witnesses employees of its own, to be examined before its own employees as judge, the examination to be conducted by its own employees as prosecutor."

"That in a very large number of cases the hearings before the board examiners are conducted in an unfair and biased manner, with the very evident purpose of trying to get some evidence in the record, however flimsy, in order to support a predetermined conclusion."

Burke asserted that in the Wierton Steel hearing, the board gave a C. I. O. organizer blanket authority to interrogate witnesses. The organizer, he said, "went about the community showing his credentials and demanding information."

control program—probably will be ready for congressional approval next week.

The administration's wage-hour legislation, however, still was before the house labor committee for revamping after the house refused to accept it last fall. The committee agreed on a "cooling period" to dissipate animosities, but some members expressed concern that this process might freeze the bill to death.

SLOW RALLY ON STOCKS FADED

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A slow rally that lifted selected stocks fractions to 2 or more points in today's early market proceedings faded in the latter part of the session.

Quiet but persistent offerings appeared near the final hour and in the closing period with the ticker tape behind, the morning's advances were converted into losses of 1 to 3 at the worst. Extreme declines were reduced in the last few minutes.

CONGRESSMAN IN A PLUNGE OR A FALL TO DEATH

Body Found on Walkway Six Stories Below Hotel Room

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Edward A. Kenney, 53-year-old New Jersey representative, known for his advocacy of a national lottery, plunged or fell to his death from the sixth floor of a fashionable hotel during the night.

The body, discovered at 8 a. m. by Emil Semet, a hotel waiter, was identified by Kenney's secretary, John M. Stewart. It was clad only in underwear.

The short, silvery-haired representative had been a guest last night at the annual congressional dinner of the New Jersey chamber of commerce in the Carlton hotel, four blocks from the White House.

No one, police said, saw Kenney fall to his death on a concrete walkway beneath the open sixth floor window.

A preliminary examination indicated Kenney had received a fractured skull, a broken left leg and a punctured thigh.

Speaker at Banquet
Kenney had been a speaker at last night's banquet, attended by many prominent New Jersey politicians and business men.

Police said they believed that Kenney remained after the dinner to talk with friends in the room set aside for the banquet guests.

Apparently, they added, he decided to spend the night at the hotel rather than return to his home in an apartment house on Sixteenth street, N. W. Mrs. Kenney was at their home in Cliffside Park, N. J.

Associates in congress said that Kenney was prolific in the number of pieces of legislation he proposed, most of them intended to better conditions of his own Bergen county.

Kenney was born in Clinton, Mass., in 1884. He was serving his third term.

Too Weary From Work To Play

Some people are always worn out. Their work is a strain. They seem always too tired to play.

They miss much happiness. And often needlessly. For frequently it is constipation that is sapping away strength. Early fatigue, mental dullness, sleeplessness, can all be the results of constipation.

So keep regular. And to assist Nature, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets! For, in addition to definite, gentle relief, they give mild stimulation to the flow of bile from the liver without the discomfort of drastic, irritating drugs. That's why millions use this laxative every year. Get Olive Tablets at your druggist. Only 15c, 30c, 60c.
